AVHC IS...

Singing Safely!
Our COVID-19 plan provides a safe space for all our members to continue their love of singing.

Our flexible payment options and bursary program continue to make the AVHC one of the most financially accessible, professional, all inclusive music education programs across Atlantic Canada.

Professional Quality Music Education
Our professionally trained faculty teach valuable musical and life skills, motivating students to reach their potential with a positive and supportive approach.

Community
Feel welcomed as part of our choir family, make friends and community connections while learning and socializing in an inclusive, accepting environment.

OUR SINGERS SAY

"I feel I can be more of myself at AVHC than anywhere else. It's the one place besides my own house that I am 100% myself. I love being here and being able to be me no matter what"

"Being in AVHC means the world to me. I can't picture what my life would be like without it! I just love everything about learning and creating here."

"I learn something new every week. I learn music, theory, and warm ups but mostly I learn how to be brave and sing out and how to be the best person I can be."

OUR PARENTS SAY

"We were so impressed (and relieved!) to learn of the covid protocols AVHC has managed to put in place. With an immunocompromised member of our family, we are quite conservative about the activities our children have participated in since COVID began. AVHC has stayed at the forefront of public health guidelines, and have managed to implement measures that have totally put our minds at ease. We are thrilled that we have 3 of our children singing safely in the Junior, Intermediate, and Senior choirs. Bravo AVHC!"
